Introduction

1.1 What's New in 2011–12

In 2010–11, all boards receiving Ontario Leadership Strategy (OLS) funding developed and implemented the mentoring for newly appointed school leaders initiative as part of the board leadership development strategy (BLDS). As part of the BLDS, boards are required to provide mentoring to all newly appointed principals and vice-principals in their first and second years in their role. In 2011–12, boards will refine their BLDS and move to the next stage of implementation, following the updated requirements outlined in sections 3 and 4 of the Board Leadership Development Strategy: Requirements Manual, 2011, and completing the updated Board Leadership Development Strategy Planning Template and Implementation Continuum (see Appendix C of that manual). As noted in the Board Leadership Development Strategy: Requirements Manual, 2011, one of the BLDS goals must focus on mentoring newly appointed school leaders.

1.2 The Purpose of This Manual

The purpose of this manual is to support school boards in their implementation of mentoring for newly appointed school leaders. This manual sets out the requirements that boards will have in place in order to offer high-quality mentoring and provides tips on effective practices. Boards must meet the requirements in order to receive funding as part of the board leadership development strategy (BLDS).

This manual supersedes Mentoring for Newly Appointed School Leaders, 2010.

Resources such as the document Supporting Effective School Leadership: A Handbook for Implementing Mentoring for Newly Appointed School Leaders in Ontario (March 2009) and information about mentoring workshops and programs are available through the following principal association partners:

- ◆ Ontario Principals' Council (OPC), at www.principals.on.ca
- ◆ Catholic Principals' Council of Ontario (CPCO), at www.cpco.on.ca
- ◆ Association des directions et directions adjointes des écoles franco-ontariennes (ADFO), at www.adfo.org

School boards are required to implement mentoring as part of the board leadership development strategy (BLDS). This manual, as well as Board Leadership Development Strategy: Requirements Manual, 2011 and additional resources, is available on the Ministry of Education's website, at www.ontario.ca/eduleadership.

Background: Leadership in Ontario Schools

The Ontario education system is focused on three core priorities, as set out in Reach Every Student: Energizing Ontario Education (2008):

- ◆ high levels of student achievement
- ◆ reduced gaps in student achievement
- ◆ increased public confidence in publicly funded education

Reach Every Student: Energizing Ontario Education identified school leadership as a supporting condition for meeting these three core priorities. Research shows that school leadership is second only to teaching in its impact on student learning. Principals and vice-principals play a critical role in focusing decisions and actions on improving student achievement and well-being. They set directions, build relationships, develop people and the organization, lead the instructional program, and secure accountability. Their effectiveness as leaders is critical to the success and sustainability of system-wide improvement. School leadership matters.

Context: The Ontario Leadership Strategy

To foster strong leadership, the government launched the Ontario Leadership Strategy (OLS). The OLS is a comprehensive plan of action aimed at attracting and developing skilled and passionate school and system leaders. The strategy promotes a collaborative approach through which schools, districts, education partners, and the ministry work in partnership to support student achievement and well-being. Launched in 2008–09, the strategy has evolved and will continue to be refined through ongoing research, consultation, and practice. The OLS is supported by the Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF), which identifies effective practices, including the five Core Leadership Capacities (CLCs) (see below). Additional information on the Ontario Leadership Strategy is provided on the Ministry of Education website, at www.ontario.ca/eduleadership.

As part of the OLS, boards are required to develop a board leadership development strategy (BLDS) that fosters high-quality leadership throughout the board. The BLDS focuses on improving student achievement and well-being through effective leadership, and it supports the alignment of leadership development components, including mentoring for newly appointed school and system leaders and principal/vice-principal performance appraisal (PPA).

The Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF) provides the underpinnings for the mentoring of newly appointed school leaders and identifies effective practices and competencies, skills, knowledge, and attitudes of successful educational leaders. The OLF is based on research by world-recognized experts in leadership and extensive consultation with educators across Ontario. The OLF provides a resource to help school and system leaders identify practices and competencies for building expertise in relation to a wide range of leadership capacities.

The Core Leadership Capacities (CLCs) are derived from the OLF and can be used as a focus for leadership development in the context of the OLF. The CLCs are as follows:

- ◆ setting goals
- ◆ aligning resources with priorities
- ◆ promoting collaborative learning cultures
- ◆ using data
- ◆ engaging in courageous conversations

The ministry has made a commitment to these CLCs as a focus of ministry-sponsored professional learning and resources. School and system leaders use the OLF as a source for practices and competencies, including those related to the five CLCs, that will be their focus for developing expertise. As contexts change and expertise grows, leaders identify new areas for development with respect to the OLF, including the five CLCs. In this way, they continuously improve their practice. More information on the OLF, including the five CLCs, is provided on the Ministry of Education website, at www.edu.gov.on.ca/eng/policyfunding/leadership/IdeasIntoAction.html.

Mentoring for Newly Appointed School Leaders

Mentoring for newly appointed school leaders directly supports the two goals of the Ontario Leadership Strategy, which are:

- ◆ to attract the right people to the principalship;
- ◆ to help principals and vice-principals develop into the best possible instructional leaders.

Monitoring and evaluation of the mentoring initiative have confirmed the multiple benefits of mentoring among mentees, mentors, and the education system.

Mentees benefit from support in learning the new leadership role and from opportunities for professional reflection to guide goal setting. They develop increased confidence in their technical and adaptive skills, and are able to achieve growth and development goals identified in their learning plan.

Mentoring also provides a tremendous professional development opportunity for experienced school leaders. Experienced school leaders receive support and resources to become effective mentors and to continue developing their own leadership competencies through learning with others.

Schools, school boards, and the ministry benefit from improved performance of new school leaders, increased capacity building across the system, increased student achievement, and support for system priorities. Most importantly, students benefit from strong and effective school leaders.

Research Foundations

The provincial approach to mentoring for newly appointed school leaders is based on research, effective practices in Ontario and other jurisdictions, the design of the mentoring element of the New Teacher Induction Program (NTIP), the results of a mentoring pilot for newly appointed school and system leaders in 2007–08, and feedback from participants during several years of province-wide implementation.

Steve Munby, Chief Executive of the National College for Leadership of Schools and Children's Services in the United Kingdom, insists that developing skills and behaviours must take place in the context of practical settings because people learn best and most powerfully in a real job setting. According to Munby, 30 per cent of leadership development should be done through course work and 70 per cent through learning on the job. He maintains that leaders are developed by exposing them to opportunities to visit other places and see other practices. In order to learn on the job and be exposed to outstanding practice, “access to coaching and mentoring from credible peers” is needed.¹

Mentoring and Leadership

2.1 Why Mentoring?

School leaders have a primary role in setting the vision and working in partnership with staff, students, parents, and the community to focus on student achievement and well-being. They serve as role models and community leaders, leading schools towards excellence through collaborative goal-setting and fostering collaborative learning cultures. They guide improvements in instruction by gathering and analysing data effectively and inspiring staff to seek opportunities for continuous professional growth and development. School leaders oversee school operations and align resources to match priorities, and they partner with parents to help students achieve their best. To succeed in this important and complex role, principals and vice-principals require a network of supports ranging from peer support to professional learning opportunities offered through the ministry, school boards, and principal associations.

The first two years in a school leadership role are both rewarding and challenging. Newly appointed principals and vice-principals are making the transition to the role, enhancing their leadership practices and competencies, and building relationships with the school community, and at the same time implementing key school, board, and provincial priorities.

Mentoring is a powerful stimulus for the professional learning of new and experienced leaders. “Learning is the primary purpose, process, and product of mentoring. Relationship is the glue that binds the partnership. What distinguishes mentoring interactions from mentoring relationships is the commitment to the learning and to the relationship”.² The primary goal of mentoring interactions is to develop school leaders who are focused on acquiring the skills necessary to implement the practices and foster the conditions that contribute to student achievement and well-being.

At its heart, mentoring provides support tailored to the unique role of newly appointed school leaders so they can be successful in this important stage of their leadership career. In the face of multiple demands and priorities, mentoring can accelerate learning, reduce isolation, and increase the confidence and skill of newly appointed school leaders.

Fostering a Collaborative Learning Culture Through Mentoring

Collaborative learning cultures in schools and boards are characterized by educators’ learning from each other as they work together with a common focus on improved student achievement and well-being. Mentoring can foster a collaborative learning culture within schools and school boards by building capacity for the skills and approaches that contribute to shared learning and professional dialogue. A number of current provincial initiatives have a mentoring and/or coaching component – for example, mentoring for literacy coaches, mentoring for Student Success leaders, and the mentoring component of the New Teacher Induction Program (NTIP).

Board leaders and steering committees are encouraged to consider using mentoring resources and opportunities from one initiative to support other initiatives. Some examples of collaboration efforts within schools and boards are the following:

- ◆ offering joint mentor training or workshops on specific issues, such as teacher performance appraisal (TPA), to NTIP teacher mentors, literacy and numeracy coaches, principal mentors, and others, as appropriate
- ◆ inviting others who work directly with new or experienced teachers over the course of a day, week, month, or year to participate in NTIP mentor training and/or principal mentor training in order to learn complementary skills and approaches and to develop a common language
- ◆ encouraging school leader mentors and mentees to work with teacher mentors or coaches to share their knowledge of a range of mentoring approaches with other staff and to guide them in adopting these approaches when working with students, parents, and each other

2. Lois J. Zachary, “Turbo-charge Your Leadership Through Mentoring”, Leader to Leader, no. 27 (Winter 2003), p. 16.

- ◆ supporting superintendents in applying mentoring skills when collaborating with principals as part of the principal/vice-principal performance appraisal (PPA) process
- ◆ equipping all principals with mentoring skills to support teacher and vice-principal professional growth and learning as part of teacher performance appraisal (TPA) and principal/vice-principal performance appraisal (PPA)

Mentoring Approaches

Mentoring is an iterative and reciprocal learning process, and is modified to meet the changing needs of the newly appointed school leader. The following possible approaches are intended to assist boards as they implement mentoring for newly appointed school leaders.

Mentoring usually refers to non-evaluative relationships maintained over time between a newer and a more experienced professional, and is often offered to an individual who is new to a position. The focus is the professional learning needs of the mentee. The mentor uses questioning and feedback techniques in the context of a trusting relationship and a learning plan that is developed by the mentee with the assistance of his or her mentor.

Coaching generally refers to a short-term relationship involving conversations that support job-embedded learning. The goal is set largely by the person being coached and typically has specific outcomes, such as enhancing performance, reflecting on practice, or examining and solving a problem.

Consulting involves one or more individuals who provide expert information, resources, and guidance to others based on the specific knowledge or skills of the consultant(s).

Collaborating is the equitable and collegial process of working together to identify and achieve goals.

Facilitation processes strategically support groups to achieve their goals.

It is important that the mentor and mentee establish protocols for confidentiality and for working together at the beginning of the mentoring process. Throughout the mentoring process, mentors who have learned the necessary skills will be able to adopt a range of approaches in response to individual mentee situations, learning needs, and contexts. For example, a mentor may at times provide expertise (consult), plan with the mentee (collaborate), or support the mentee to reflect on and refine skills (coach).

Mentoring is enhanced by a menu of other professional learning opportunities on topics of need and interest that can be experienced by mentees either on their own or with their mentors. Mutual learning opportunities for mentors and mentees help to provide focus for the mentoring process. Mentors are encouraged to refer to various resource materials that are available on the ministry's website, at www.ontario.ca/eduleadership. Some examples are the PPA resources Conversation Starters and Examples of Completed Forms, as well as Ideas Into Action and In Conversation.

Requirements

3.1 Overview

School boards receive one funding allocation for the implementation of a board leadership development strategy (BLDS). As part of the BLDS, boards will provide mentoring to all newly appointed principals and vice-principals in their first and second years in their role. Boards must meet the following mentoring requirements in order to receive this funding as part of the BLDS.

Each board will have an implementation plan in place, which is to be based on the implementation continuum provided in Appendix B to this manual. The implementation plan will include the following minimum requirements:

- ◆ Provide mentoring to all eligible newly appointed school leaders.
- ◆ Include the mentoring lead as a member of the board leadership development strategy (BLDS) steering committee.
- ◆ Identify a mentoring goal that aligns with the board strategic plan and/or the board improvement plan for student achievement.
- ◆ Establish operational parameters.
- ◆ Recruit and select mentors.
- ◆ Establish a transparent mentor/mentee matching process.
- ◆ Establish and communicate the roles and responsibilities of the mentor and mentee.
- ◆ Develop a process for the initial and ongoing assessment of mentee learning needs.

- ◆ Provide a joint mentor/mentee orientation.
- ◆ Provide high-quality mentor training.
- ◆ Offer ongoing professional learning and resources to mentors and mentees.
- ◆ Have mentees develop, with the assistance of their mentor, a learning plan that will focus the mentoring interactions.
- ◆ Provide an exit process.
- ◆ Conduct ongoing monitoring and evaluation of the board mentoring program.
- ◆ Meet all ministry reporting requirements (see section 3.16 below).

The two components of critical importance to a successful mentoring program are high-quality mentor training and identification of learning goals and objectives that are key components of the shared learning plan.

Boards have the flexibility to customize the mentoring requirements outlined in this manual to reflect local circumstances. They may also establish additional requirements that reflect their unique needs.

Effective Practice

Refer to the ministry’s leadership website for additional resources to guide the planning, implementation, and monitoring of mentoring:
www.ontario.ca/eduleadership.

Further resources, workshops, and programs are also available through the Ontario Principals’ Council (OPC), the Catholic Principals’ Council of Ontario (CPCO), and the Association des directions et directions adjointes des écoles franco-ontariennes (ADFO).

3.2

Eligible Newly Appointed School Leaders

Mentoring is designed for all newly appointed principals and vice-principals in their first and second years in the role. This includes principals and vice-principals who have teaching responsibilities and, at the board’s discretion, those who are in “acting” positions. Newly appointed principals who received mentoring in their role as a vice-principal are eligible to receive mentoring again in their first and second years as a principal.

Identification of Mentoring Goals

The board leadership development strategy (BLDS) will include one clearly articulated goal related to mentoring for newly appointed school leaders that is linked with the board strategic plan and/or the board improvement plan for student achievement. For more information, refer to the Board Leadership Development Strategy Planning Template and Implementation Continuum in Appendix C of Board Leadership Development Strategy: Requirements Manual, 2011, available at www.ontario.ca/eduleadership.

Effective Practice

Examples of approaches that boards may take to develop goals:

- Identify mentoring as a strategy to support the SMART goals outlined in their board improvement plan for student achievement (e.g., articulating and sharing a clear vision for closing student achievement gaps).
- Within the domains of the Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF), emphasize the five Core Leadership Capacities as a focus of capacity building among newly appointed school leaders through their participation in mentoring (e.g., Developing Expertise in Using Data: Gathering, Analysing, and Making Decisions).
- Develop a goal to establish and/or foster a collaborative mentoring culture within the board by making connections between a range of mentoring and/or coaching approaches within the board (e.g., teacher mentors work with principal mentors to apply collaborative skills when working with peers in a professional learning community).

Establishing Operational Parameters

In order to meet the requirements set out in this manual, the mentoring lead and/or steering committee will establish local operational parameters for mentoring, taking into account local circumstances such as geography, demographics, number of newly appointed school leaders, and the number of mentors available. The operational parameters will include the following:

- ◆ one-to-one and/or small-group mentoring and/or whole-group mentoring (It is recommended that a combination of mentoring models be considered to enhance mentoring networks.)

- ◆ a one-year board plan outlining the frequency and nature of contact between mentors and mentees (It is recommended that boards organize a minimum of three one-to-one meetings between mentor and mentee each year, and encourage mentors and mentees to have contact at least once each month in some way, such as by telephone, e-mail, or teleconferencing.)
- ◆ mentoring interactions that will take place during and adjacent to district-scheduled administrator activities (e.g., monthly administrator meetings)
- ◆ leadership training tailored for mentors that takes into account their needs, mentoring experiences, and the realities that each mentee will face on the job
- ◆ opportunities for mentors to meet in order to learn and to share lessons with each other on specific topics
- ◆ provisions for supply coverage and travel costs for participants
- ◆ supports to allow participation at a distance (e.g., use of technology, web conferences)

3.5

Mentoring Lead and Board Leadership Development Strategy (BLDS) Steering Committee

The director of education or designate will identify a mentoring lead to serve as a member of the Board Leadership Development Strategy (BLDS) Steering Committee and to oversee the planning, implementation, and monitoring of mentoring. The individual who is the BLDS lead may also serve as the mentoring lead, depending on the local context. The board may choose to create a mentoring subcommittee to support the lead in identifying goals and developing the board's mentoring implementation plan. For more information, refer to the Board Leadership Development Strategy Planning Template and Implementation Continuum in Appendix C of Board Leadership Development Strategy: Requirements Manual, 2011, available at www.ontario.ca/eduleadership.

The following chart provides an overview of the roles and responsibilities of key board and school personnel.

Effective Practice

School boards are required to implement mentoring in the context of the board leadership development strategy (BLDS). There are many ways in which mentoring can enhance the BLDS – for example, communicating to aspiring leaders that mentoring is a key support that will be available to them as they enter the new leadership role. In addition, the board may invite mentees to speak with aspiring leaders about their experience and about ways in which the mentoring process has helped their transition to their role.

Recruiting and Selecting Mentors

A process for recruitment and selection of mentors that meets the unique needs of the board and its mentees will be established by the mentoring lead, in consultation with the steering committee. Clear selection criteria will increase the chances of recruiting the best possible mentors. The lead and/or steering committee will determine whether to recruit practising or retired school leaders, or both, as mentors.

The process also lays the foundation for the subsequent mentor/mentee matching process. The mentor must not be in a supervisory role in relation to the mentee. The mentor should be an experienced administrator, and the mentee should be able to confide in and not feel vulnerable to the mentor. It is important to note that all supervisors are expected to provide guidance as part of their supervisory role, ideally using the mentoring approaches outlined in section 2.3 for those they are responsible for supervising. Mentoring for newly appointed school leaders provides additional support that is non-evaluative for those beginning in the role.

Mentors should:

- ◆ be reflective, innovative, and forward-looking leaders who are focused on student achievement and well-being;
- ◆ be accessible and willing to serve as a continual resource for a minimum of one year and up to two years;
- ◆ be committed to gaining the specific mentoring skills through high-quality certified training in, for example, cognitive coaching, blended coaching, and mentor training provided by the three principal associations, and through mentoring webcasts and web conferences also offered by the principal associations;
- ◆ have a minimum of three years' experience as a principal or vice-principal, where possible;
- ◆ be a role model for effective school leadership, demonstrating the practices and competencies outlined in the Ontario Leadership Framework;
- ◆ understand current education system priorities and initiatives;
- ◆ have experience working with adult learning styles;
- ◆ be compassionate, supportive individuals who are able to cultivate a learning environment;
- ◆ support the principles of inclusion, diversity, and equity;

- ◆ be able to communicate, to listen actively, and to provide constructive feedback in conversations that support professional learning development (“courageous conversations” or “open-to-learning conversations”);
- ◆ be skilled in problem solving, planning, and goal setting;
- ◆ be open to the views and feedback of others and be a lifelong learner.

Matching Mentors and Mentees

A process for matching mentors and mentees is a critical component of mentoring implementation. The mentor and mentee must be able to work together in a professional and collaborative manner that is based on trust, respect, and confidentiality and that is conducive to learning, ideally for a period of up to two years. The mentees should have the opportunity to provide input into the selection of their mentor. The matching process should include the completion of a matching profile for both the mentor and the mentee, and a variety of tools (e.g., a needs assessment, a questionnaire) should be used to complete the matching profile. This profile should include their school context (e.g., urban, rural, elementary, secondary), as well as their current knowledge, experience, strengths, and areas for growth and development based on the domains, practices, and competencies in the Ontario Leadership Framework. The profile information will enable the mentoring lead and/or steering committee to match the expertise of the mentor to the learning needs of the mentee.

Roles and Responsibilities of Mentors and Mentees

Mentoring is an iterative and reciprocal process and is modified to meet the changing needs of the newly appointed school leader. The following chart gives a short description of the roles of the mentor and mentee, outlines responsibilities, and provides the timelines and format for the mentoring process.

The director of education, mentoring lead, BLDS Steering Committee, mentors, and mentees each play a key role. The ministry’s Leadership Development Branch and Field Services Branch regional offices, in partnership with the French-Language Education Policy and Programs Branch, Literacy and Numeracy Secretariat, Student Success/Learning to 18 Branch, Early Learning Branch, Teaching Policy and Standards Branch, and others, will work together and with boards and stakeholders to ensure successful implementation of mentoring.

Initial and Ongoing Assessment of Mentee Learning Needs

Boards will develop a process and use a variety of tools for initial and ongoing assessment of mentee learning needs. Initial assessment will contribute to the matching of mentor and mentee, and ongoing assessments will provide focus to guide the mentoring process.

Effective Practice

- Use a preliminary needs assessment to inform the match between the mentor and mentee, based on the domains, practices, and competencies derived from the Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF).
- Mentors and mentees conduct an in-depth assessment of learning needs at the beginning of their mentoring relationship. They use this as a basis for developing the mentee's learning plan and identifying the focus of mentoring work (e.g., a focus on the five Core Leadership Capacities).
- Mentee learning needs are revisited on an ongoing basis during the two years of mentoring.

3.10

Joint Orientation

The board will ensure that mentees receive an orientation to mentoring that includes a discussion of the role of the mentor and what the mentee can expect of the mentor. Joint orientation of mentors and mentees is recommended. Orientation is a process that begins with the first meeting of the mentor and mentee and continues until both partners are clear about their expectations for the mentoring that will follow.

Determining the terms of engagement, which include the establishment of trust and confidentiality, is a crucial first step that can begin during orientation. First meetings can take place one-to-one or, where possible, can be arranged in a small-group setting of mentors and mentees, or they can be a combination of both. Small-group collaboration can enrich the conversation and promote the establishment of a learning network beyond individual mentor and mentee pairs. The orientation process launches the mentor and mentee partnership and provides the foundation for a program of ongoing professional learning.

Mentor Training

Preparing mentors for their role is a foundational factor for mentoring success. Both new and experienced mentors require differentiated and high-quality specific training (e.g., certified, accredited training) in order to develop and refine mentoring skills. Boards will provide resources and training by certified trainers to mentors before mentoring begins, and as necessary on an ongoing basis. Mentor training should be combined with training for others involved in mentoring/coaching in the board (e.g., teacher mentors, literacy coaches, Student Success leader mentors, peer mentors/coaches). Mentor training may include the following areas of focus:

- ◆ mentoring, goals, and implementation parameters within the context of the board leadership development strategy
- ◆ expectations of mentors regarding their participation and their work with mentees
- ◆ relationship building, collaboration, and teamwork as an initial focus of mentoring
- ◆ the mentoring relationship and ways in which coaching is part of mentoring
- ◆ mentoring and coaching skills (Boards may provide more in-depth mentor training and/or have mentors participate in programs offered by OPC, CPCO, and/or ADFO.)
- ◆ development of an in-depth understanding of the role of the newly appointed school leader in implementing key priorities and developing and implementing a school improvement plan for student achievement
- ◆ guidance for mentees on identifying their learning needs and developing their learning plans, taking into account their school context, board goals for mentoring, and the Ontario Leadership Framework

Use of technologies such as collaboration software, podcasts, and web-conferencing software is an effective way for boards to share information or engage in training and for mentors and mentees to connect from a distance.

Developing and Supporting Mentee Learning Plans

Mentoring is a reciprocal learning partnership in which the mentor and mentee work collaboratively towards the achievement of goals that they have defined and agreed upon.³ A learning plan is a crucial element of this collaborative effort. School boards must require that mentees develop a learning plan, with the assistance of their mentor, and use it to focus the mentoring interactions and growth and development of the mentee. The learning plan will be developed early in the process to guide the whole mentoring process. The learning plan will focus on the professional growth and development needs of the mentee, which are identified through the needs assessment and will become the focus of work for the mentor and mentee. The mentor and mentee will review and revise the plan on a regular basis to determine progress and to identify any changes in the learning needs and interests of the mentee.

All principals and vice-principals are required to develop an Annual Growth Plan (AGP) each year as part of the Principal/Vice-Principal Performance Appraisal (PPA) process. The Annual Growth Plan provides a vehicle for planning the principal/vice-principal's learning during the first year, during the appraisal year, and in the intervening years between appraisals. This plan and the mentee learning plan complement each other and are mutually supportive. Mentees are encouraged to use the strategies/supports and target dates identified in their Annual Growth Plan as a basis for informing their Mentee Learning Plan.

In Appendix A, a sample Mentee Learning Plan template is provided. The learning plan will include the information from the mentee's Annual Growth Plan as well as the additional Mentee Learning Plan section, which is confidential between the mentor and mentee and is specific to the mentee learning plan process.

Ongoing Professional Learning and Resources

Ongoing professional learning opportunities that reflect current research and school, board, and provincial priorities should be offered to individual mentors and mentees and to mentor/mentee teams. The professional learning should be focused on the OLF practices and competencies, should be appropriate for the mentee's school context, and should be designed to enhance both the mentee's growth and development as well as the mentor's learning experience.

3. Lois J. Zachary, "Turbo-charge Your Leadership Through Mentoring", Leader to Leader, no. 27 (Winter 2003), p. 16.

Effective Practice

- Mentors and mentees attend professional learning opportunities as teams and use the knowledge gained as a catalyst for goal setting and growth.
- Mentor/mentee face-to-face time is scheduled adjacent to the workshop/presentation to promote and facilitate dialogue regarding knowledge acquired, school leadership implications, and next steps.
- Professional learning is offered for mentors and mentees individually, in teams, and/or within a mixed group of mentors and mentees.

Exit Process

The steering committee will establish an exit process for re-matching the mentee with another mentor, if the original match is unsuccessful. Re-matching will be done in a way that protects the integrity of the individuals involved. The exit process will be made clear to all mentors and mentees during orientation. In cases where the mentor and mentee agree that two full years of mentoring is not required, the board has the discretion to discontinue support before the two-year period is complete.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The board is responsible for monitoring and evaluating the mentoring process on an ongoing basis to determine whether mentoring is meeting the needs of newly appointed principals and vice-principals and whether mentoring is enabling the board to achieve its goals. The board can then identify successful practices, address challenges, and make adjustments as needed. The information gathered through monitoring and evaluation may be used to improve mentoring programs offered and may also be used when completing the reports the board is required to submit to the ministry. The ministry may also evaluate – or engage external evaluators to assess – the impact of the program and experience on mentors, mentees, and the mentoring lead, as well as the impact that mentoring of school leaders has on student achievement.

The ministry will continue to monitor the provincial implementation of mentoring to ensure that boards are meeting the minimum requirements outlined in section 3 of this manual. Program monitoring will include a greater focus on the board's provision of differentiated and high-quality mentor training and the use of a shared learning plan to guide the mentoring process (see sections 3.11 and 3.12).
